Colonel James Kilbourne has so far failed to make a return of his cost bill in chasing the Democratic nomination for governor at the Zanesville convention for and the ten days allowed by the Garfield law during which such a statement may be filed have expired. The Democratic leader in Franklin county is, therefore under section 5 of the above law, liable to a fine of not less than $1000, the same to be paid into the common school fund of the state. Under the Garfield enactment it is made the duty of the prosecuting attorney to bring immediate action against the offending person. What will Prosecutor Thurman do about it? It is up to him.—Ohio State Journal.

And Grosvenor Knows.

General Grosvenor called at the White House today for the first time since his return from Europe, and spent some time with the President. After his conference, General Grosvenor said: "The result in Ohio will be the same as in years past for the same reasons. The Democrats can not carry Ohio against McKinley, and that is what the election of McLean would mean."

Discussing the Dreyfus verdict, General Grosvenor said:

"The French Nation hates us, and let me tell you, the Paris Exhibition will not be the success it would have been had not this Dreyfus outrage been perpetrated. The big show will be boycotted by people of many countries, and while I am inclined to doubt that any government that already is committed to making an exhibit will fail to do so, I believe the exhibits will not be what has been planned or expected. As a matter of fact, I think Paris is an unsafe place for this Government to send its priceless and matchless treasures. No one can tell whether they will be returned intact or not. There would be a revolution in France now or in a short time if there was a leader there like Boulanger. The country is ripe for a great upheaval, but because of the absence of the man to lead the attack on the regularly constituted authorities, the nation will be spared for the time."

"The army of France is a rotten institution," continued the General. "About the only man connected with it who has won his spurs as a soldier is the Minister of War, who was with Maximilian in Mexico. The soldiers comprising the military establishment of the nation are insignificant, inferior runts, daunted over with a uniform. And, while I have been talking about the Paris Exposition, let me say that it won't hold a candle to the Chicago World's Fair. There will be no comparison between the two."

"In Germany I found existing a fierce spirit of rivalry against this country. But this is due to the commercial supremacy of the United States. There was absent the deep-rooted hostility, observable in France, however. In England a very kindly feeling prevails toward us—a much more fraternal and kindly sentiment than existed a few years ago."—Cin. Com. Trib.

Wants To Fight Esterhazy.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 11.—Captain Thomas Phelan, a broad swordsman and a pistol shot, has issued a challenge to Count Esterhazy to fight him a duel, in defense of Captain Alfred Dreyfus. Captain Phelan has engaged in several personal encounters, and is said to be backed by several prominent local Jews, who have guaranteed his passage to England to meet Esterhazy. He is a veteran of the Civil War.

Captain Phelan's letter follows: Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 11, 1899. To Count Esterhazy, Upper Gloucester Place, Dorset Square, London, Eng. Sir—Believing you to be the instigator and archconspirator responsible for all the miseries and tribulations of Captain Dreyfus, again convicted as a traitor to his country, and because he (Dreyfus) is now unable to follow you and demand satisfaction for the miseries that you have heaped upon him, I, as an Irish-American, who does not belong to any race or creed, and believing that a man should not be punished on account of his religion, do volunteer to take his place in the field of honor at any time or place you may designate, the place of meeting to be on neutral grounds. I am, respectfully,
THOMAS PHELAN.
Ex-Captain U. S. Volunteers.

The challenge was mailed to Count Esterhazy today. Phelan is the man who exposed the plot to blow up the British steamer Queen with dynamite. O'Donovan Rosa accused him of being a traitor to Ireland, and subsequently in January, 1885, Phelan went to the office of Rosa, in New York, and there he was assaulted and stabbed in many places, and his subsequent recovery was thought to be almost a miracle.

A Fee That Meant Millions.

Even more romantic than the career of Senator W. A. Clarke, the "copper king" of Montana, is the rise of United States Senator George L. Turner, of Washington. A few years ago Mr. Turner was a political power in his State, and while he was unsuccessful candidate for the Senate he still had influence enough to defeat the reelection of Senator Allen, and for two years Washington was represented at the National Capitol by one Senator only. Shortly after this struggle Mr. Turner lost his fortune, and the future looked black indeed. About this time a party of miners came into his law office. They had struck a lead vein in British America, near Victoria, and wanted some law papers made out. "We can't pay you cash for 'em, George," said one of the party. "But we'll give you some stock and call it square."

"I don't want the stock, boys," returned Turner. "We've known each other for some time, and I'll do the work for nothing."

"No, sir," replied the leader; "we pay as we go," and his comrades nodded approval.

"Well, you keep your stock and pay me cash when you get it."

"We'd rather give you the stock, George," urged the miner, and to please them Turner took the certificate and tucked them away in his safe. During their stay in town the miners put up at a miners' hotel, and paid out more of the certificates over the bar for liquor, which the host unwillingly received. That was two years ago. Today Senator Turner is a millionaire through those same mining stocks and is living on his money, and the mine is the famous Le Roy, one of the richest in the West.—Philadelphia Post.

The Chicago Trust Conference.

This week Chicago is to entertain a meeting which assembles to discuss trusts. The names of those persons invited include men in every occupation and in every station, from Governor to pure theorists. How many will be present can be told better after the meeting. If any considerable number take part there is no doubt the trust will be a subject much better understood than it is by many, and perhaps it will be seen in a new light.

The vast combination of capital that have followed the creation of gigantic enterprises cannot be looked upon from one point of view alone. Things come usually because there is room for them, and if they remain it is because there is a place. The trust will be discovered in Chicago to belong under the common head. If the attendance at the meeting is general, corporate union of money will have champions as well as opponents, and those champions will argue that the one apparent idea of trusts—that they are wholly pernicious—is based upon error. The trust has one hope, and only one. If it proves useful to the people of the country it will survive, for they alone are the arbiters. It takes no courts and no laws to settle the matter. The trusts must serve the people or fail to find patronage. If it stays, it is because it is approved. No amount of sentiment will have any effect. The referendum is with the people who buy. Let the trust make satisfactory prices for its goods, and the people will patronize. Let it make unsatisfactory prices and it dies. There is the whole argument and the whole history. The life of the trust is a commercial transaction, with the buyer as the authority in judgment.—Pittsburgh Times.

COUNCIL

Meeting Short, But Full of Business.

STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE

Now Under Consideration.—The Pittsburg Bridge Company's Bond.

MR. ELLENWOOD OBJECTED TO MINUTES

Of the Last Meeting and Council Sustained Objections.—President Attempted to Send the Speaker But Failed.

The City Council was in session for an hour and a quarter Tuesday evening and considerable important business was gotten under way.

President Wood called the meeting to order and roll call showed the following members present: Blume, Curtis, Davis, Eveleigh, Gossett, Loffland, Lorenz, Marsh, Storck, Strain, Wood.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and no objection being offered, the President was about to announce their approval, when Mr. Ellenwood, who was among the spectators present, arose and addressed the Council. He stated in a point blank way that the minutes read were not correct and was proceeding toward an explanation, when President Wood informed him that he must have the consent of Council before he could speak.

Mr. Ellenwood denied this and claimed that it was his right and privilege to see that the minutes of the meeting on Wednesday evening, Sept. 6, be corrected that they might show the insult which had been offered him when Council voted down the motion to allow him to speak.

Upon motion of Strain that part of the minutes were corrected and they were then approved.

Building permits were granted to the following: Mr. Locomb, Fifth street; Thomas Cleler, Seventh and Tupper; Chas. Ludey, two, Front street.

A petition from property owners on Fifth street, asking Council to pave Fifth street, between Putnam and Wooster, was read and placed on file.

A communication from John Bules was read, stating that the assessments on his property at the corner of Second and Montgomery streets, were excessive, irregular, illegal and void, and asking the investigation of Council. The matter was referred to the Paving committee.

President Wood here stated that he would not vote for any more paving ordinances, as the people were always crying for improvements, but when the time to pay for them came, there was always a cry the other way.

An ordinance to allow the Central District Printing and Telegraph Company to construct underground conduits for wires in the streets and alleys of the city was read and referred to a committee of three, Curtis, Blume and Gossett, appointed by the chair.

An ordinance to allow the Marietta Electric Company to construct and operate electric street railway on Greene, Hart, Wayne, Pike, Putnam Avenue, Franklin and Virginia street (East End and West Side) was read. A motion was made by Marsh to refer the matter to the Street committee to report at the next meeting, but as the company's representative, who was present, said that he had the rights of way, granted by property owners, Marsh withdrew his motion, and the ordinance was passed to the second and third readings. After third reading there was some objection offered to the passage of the ordinance until the proper action should be taken to secure the city's rights so far as paving and like matters were concerned. On motion by Dr. Curtis to refer the matter to a committee of five appointed by the chair, carried. Strain, Storck, Marsh, Eveleigh and Loffland were appointed members of the special committee.

Three resolutions were read for sidewalks on Gross Avenue, Clifton street and Putnam Avenue respectively, and were adopted.

Eveleigh brought up the matter of buying a strip of land from Mr. Gorman for the extension of a street in the East End, and said that Mr. Gorman was present and desired to speak. On motion he was allowed to address Council. Mr. Gorman said that he would sell a strip 537 feet long and 15 feet wide for $400. The matter was referred to the Street committee.

Dye & Wright presented a bill for $25 for extra work performed on the Warren street grading. Storck stated that the City Engineer said that the work was necessary and the bill reasonable, and made a motion that the bill be allowed.

Blume objected because the bill had not been O. K'd by the proper parties. Storck replied that he noticed that there were certain kinds of bills that Blume always wanted O. K'd while he was not particular about others. He said if one ought to be O. K'd they all ought to be.

Blume replied by asking for the reading of the contract with Dye & Wright, which was done, and Storck withdrew his motion to allow the bill. On motion the communication from Dye & Wright was received and placed on file.

The report of Mr. Hancock, of hall rentals received during July and August, $30, was read, received and placed on file.

The August report of the receipts and disbursements of the Water Works Trustees was read. The total receipts were $187.39; disbursements, $478.77. The report was received and filed.

Davis reported that the Street committee had investigated the matter of laying sidewalks on Putnam street between Sixth and Seventh street. He said that the Engineer did not think it was his duty to locate the sidewalk and the Street committee had located it. He made a motion that property owners be allowed to lay sidewalk along the curb. This motion was seconded and called forth a very spirited argument, but the motion was carried.

A motion was made by Davis that Council should go as a Committee of the Whole Thursday afternoon to investigate the matter of extending Seventh street from Putnam to Tupper street. Motion carried.

Storck asked for a report of the committee which Council recently sent to Boston. The President stated that the report would come later.

On motion, Mr. F. J. Cutter was allowed to address Council. Mr. Cutter stated that by an ordinance dated May 10, 1888, certain lots in Oak Grove cemetery had been dedicated to the Hebrew congregation of Marietta; that the congregation was now incorporated under the laws of Ohio as the Marietta Hebrew Charitable and Benevolent Association. Mr. Cutter presented a resolution to change the name in the ordinance to "The Marietta Hebrew Charitable and Benevolent Association," and to empower the Cemetery Trustees to convey said lots to said association. The resolution was adopted.

On motion the use of the City Hall for the nights of October 24 and 4th was granted to home talent at $10 per night.

Marsh moved that the bond of the Pittsburg Bridge Company be fixed at $15,000. The motion carried.

Storck asked the City Solicitor if it was lawful for people to use barb wire in fencing in the lawns, etc. The Solicitor said that in his opinion he thought that it was not and that it could be declared a nuisance. Upon motion by Storck, the Street Commissioner was instructed to remove barb wire from the gas pipe in front of Peter Schleicher's on Second street.

The following bills were allowed: M. M. Dye & Son, $19.33; J. W. Skipton, 9.00; Paul Goerlitz, 4.00; Jno. H. Becker, 10.00; T. C. Bay, 2.00; Crescent Supply Co., 6.00; E. Frank Gates, 42.00; Frank Marion, 18.00; J. W. Skipton, 9.00; J. M. McNutt, 1.50; Marietta Gas Co., 20.95; Wharfmaster's payroll, 15.50; Dr. Chas. S. Hart, 8.00; Central D. P. & T. Co., 5.21.

During the past six months Mr. Andrew Carnegie has given away some two and a half million dollars in furtherance of his favorite and laudible idea of endowing public libraries in the land of his birth and in the country of his adoption. Mr. John D. Rockefeller, who has given seven or eight million dollars to Chicago University, subscribes a quarter of a million dollars to an endowment fund for Brown University. Sir Thomas Lip-ton, who is spending something over half a million dollars on the mere chance of winning a yacht race, offers to pay $250,000 for the Muckross estate at Killarney in order to present it to the people of Ireland.

These are truly modern instances. They are typical of the times and of the social conditions and influences. In all former ages Croesus dissipated his fortune in vulgar ostentation and wasteful extravagance. The modern croesus, influenced by the spirit of the age in which he lives, disposes of at least a part of his fortune according to modern methods and modern ideas. He wishes to keep it in perpetuity, and in no way can a fortune be perpetuated so securely as by a well-considered public benefaction.

Not only does such a disposition of it secure its continuance, but it also purchases an immortality of fame on moderate terms. A few hundred thousand dollars given to a library has done more to dignify the name of Astor than any other achievement of the family. A university is a perpetual memorial of its founder, giving his name increase of glory as the years go by. The libraries established by Andrew Carnegie will keep his name and memory green in grateful minds for centuries after his furnace fires have been burned out and his business ventures have passed into oblivion.

The modern Croesus is an improvement on his forefathers because his age is an improvement on all preceding ages. For this improvement special recognition should be extended to him in the United States, because it is chiefly the United States which have taught him the lesson he is now illustrating of the best use of his money.—New York World.

The Fair Sex.

Every engaged girl makes the mistake of imagining that she now has him too secure to be scared off by her appearance in curl-papers.

If you have anything to do with a woman, impose on her, or she will win. Whenever the women see a new widow coming down the street, they put on a look of sweet sympathy that also takes quick measurement of the length of her crape.

The women all envy a certain Atchison woman who has bluffed her husband into the belief that she has heart disease and is liable to drop dead if crossed in her wishes.

When a girl has her picture taken wearing a dress cut very low in front she complicates matters by turning her eyes downward.

The complaint is made that an Atchison girl is so interested in being a daughter of the King that she forgets that she has an earthly father.

The average woman regards an apology as a good deal like a sponge and believes it will wipe out anything.—Atchison Globe.
